In 2007 Gosfilmofond, one of the largest film archives worldwide, purchased the DEFINITY film recorder to preserve its invaluable stock of thousands and thousands of documentary and feature films.

The DEFINITY film recorder is a vital part of a complete restoration system which includes scanner, restoration software and hardware installed at the Gosfilmofond laboratory.

After extensive comparative tests we decided on DEFINITY and could convince the technicians of Gosfilmofond of the high output quality, especially as the delicacy of old film material is concerned. Furthermore the DEFINITY is a film recorder uncomplicated in its handling and the staff of Gosfilmofond appreciates its ease of use.

The excellent service provided by CCG, and its dependable team who we got to know during the long years of our business connection also were factor in our choice.

We also like to point out that the DEFINITY's ability to expose any format size is very important when dealing with old film material.

We can recommend highly the DEFINITY for any film archive, because it fits without any problem into the digital workflow.
